Employment Request Form (ERF): a document completed by the hiring manager requesting to fill an employment vacancy. A job search is not started without the completion of the ERF.

- ERFs are valid for 90 days. If a position is not filled within ninety (90) days, HR will work with the Hiring Manager to determine if the position is still needed and/or change the recruitment strategy.

PROCEDURE:

Step 1: Requesting to Fill a Position

- A. All position requests must be within budget and pre-approved by the Chief Financial Officer and the Divisional VP. Any newly created positions to the budget must be pre-approved prior to launching the Employment Request Form (ERF).
- B. The Hiring Manager/Divisional VP will work with the HR Director on appropriate compensation recommendations for the position to be posted. Compensation recommendations are determined by scope of work, using the HEPC Master job title and compensation matrix, reviewed for internal equity and compression and benchmarked against other WV Community and Technical Colleges for competitive analysis. This information is provided to the CFO and Hiring Manager for consideration before posting the position and/or making a job offer.

- C. An Employment Request Form (ERF) will be completed to request placement of employment for an existing position, a new position, Full-time, Part-time, Work Study or Adjunct position. All positions will be advertised on the college website, and select job boards, such as Indeed, Glassdoor, WV Higher Ed, Zip Recruiter, etc. Any additional advertisement must be requested by completing the Additional Advertisement Request Form.

Step 2: Hiring Manager and Hiring Committee Identified

- A. Human Resources will work with the hiring manager to review applicants, develop the interview questionnaire and set the interview schedule.
- B. The hiring manager will select at least three individuals to serve as voting members of the hiring committee. When requested, an HR representative can be present at either the first or second round interviews. The members of the interview committee should have a working knowledge and/or understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the position to participate in the interview process. The number of interviewers will vary depending on the position and the departments that interact with that position. (Extra Help, Adjunct and Work Study positions do not require this step. Interviews for those positions can be completed by the hiring manager.)

- C. The Human Resources office will provide the hiring manager and/or the hiring committee with preparation materials. These materials include a comprehensive list of behavior-based questions, candidate selection score sheet and a presentation reviewing best practices for hiring. Once the hiring committee has been selected, the hiring manager will hold an initial meeting for the committee to provide guidance for proper interviewing techniques, nondiscrimination and equal employment practices and discuss the necessity for confidentiality. At the request of the hiring manager, a Human Resources representative can conduct a review for the hiring committee. The committee members will be reminded that notes taken during the process will become part of the search and selection process to be retained by the Human Resources Office. Notes should be legible.
- D. The hiring manager may be part of both the first and second round of interviews or may choose to just be part of the second round of interviews with the top recommended candidates. The Divisional Vice President may also be included in the second round of interviews. The hiring committee will tally the interview score sheets.
- E. The hiring manager will present the recommendation for hire to the Divisional Vice President.
- F. The Divisional Vice President (DVP) will review the recommendation and application materials. The DVP may conduct an additional interview with the candidate or accept the recommendation of the hiring manager.
- G. The Divisional Vice President will forward the recommendation to the Office of Human Resources.

Step 3: Candidate Approval

The Office of Human Resources will submit the recommendation and appropriate paperwork to the President or President's Designee.

1. The President or President's Designee will review the final recommendation and may choose to interview the candidate.
2. The President or President's Designee will make the final decision on hiring the candidate and respond to the Office of Human Resources and the hiring manager with approval/denial.

3. Records will be maintained based on record retention guidelines.

Step 4: Offer of Employment

- A. Once the candidate is approved by the President or President's designee, the Hiring Manager is to make the verbal offer.
- B. When the verbal offer is accepted the Office of Human Resources will prepare the offer letter, initiating the background screening, completion of new hire paperwork and the new employee orientation process.
- C. After the position is filled the Office of Human Resources will "disposition" the candidates in the applicant tracking system. This will trigger an email that informs them that another candidate has been chosen, and the search is closed.
- D. If the candidate is not approved or withdraws, the Office of Human Resources will contact the hiring manager regarding the option to reconsider the other qualified candidates or to close the search and repost the position.

Step 5: Onboarding a New Employee

- After the completion of the new employee orientation training. The hiring manager is responsible for the effective onboarding of the new employee into the department.
- HR will provide Onboard resources to the Hiring Manager to include:
 - Job description for review and signature; to be returned to HR after review and signature
 - New Hire Onboarding Plan excel template
 - Onboarding Leader Guide and Checklist
 - Onboarding Buddy Guide
- The Hiring Manager is responsible for developing a plan that effectively positions the new employee for a successful integration into New River Community and Technical College and the department team.
- Within the Introductory Period it is critical for the hiring manager to provide feedback regarding expectations and performance. The Hiring Manager does not need to wait until the end of the 6-month Introductory Period to provide feedback. HR will meet with the Hiring Manager two weeks before the end of the Introductory Period Performance Evaluation to determine if the individual is meeting expectations and gain the hiring manager's recommendation to continue or discontinue employment.
